Earle T. Hawkins, Ph.D., President

Towson, Baltimore 4

Telephone: Valley 3-7500

The State Teachers College at Towson, oldest and largest teacher-education institution in the State, was established as the first State normal school by the General Assembly of 1865. The school was originally located in Baltimore and moved to its suburban campus at Towson in 1915. In 1935, it became a four-year teachers college with a four-year program leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science. Graduates are prepared for teaching in kindergarten, elementary, or junior high school. In 1958, the college started a program of graduate studies leading to the degree of Master of Education. The college also offers a two-year junior college course leading to the Associate in Arts degree. Students enrolling in the four-year curriculum for prospective teachers pay no tuition if they promise to teach in the public schools of Maryland following their graduation. The enrollment of the college for the school year 1958-59 was 1,359.
